

Attention . .

No convocation will be held on Tuesday of this week. Students are to attend the class scheduled for 10 a.m. on Monday, Feb. 19, during this hour on Tuesday, according to Dean of Faculty John O. Chellevold.

The switch is due to three convocations to be held the following week, Spiritual Emphasis Week.

Three Attain Top Honors In 1st Term

Three students attained a perfect grade standing or a four-point average for the first semester.

They are senior Charles Jepsen, sophomore Jacklyn Lohr and freshman Elizabeth Kalkwarf.

In addition to these three students, fifteen seniors, eight juniors, seven sophomores and twenty freshmen made the honor roll by receiving a grade point of 3.5 or above.

Fifteen Seniors Make List

Seniors include Ina Bates, Robert Albers, Darrell Briggs, Audra Jacober, Carolyn Johannsen, Robert Johannsen, Janice Kriesel, Barbara Lackstrom, Joanne Mammen Goetz, Robert Mueller, Darlene Nimtz, Ellen Olson, Beverly Lubben, Leon Schwartz and Hart Schwarz.

Juniors included on the honor roll are Arlyn Fuerst, Shirley Hoppe, Carl Jech, Eric Meisger, Valeria Redmann, Judith Seffer, Muriel Stuepfert and Beverly Weidler.

Sophs Merit Seven

Cleo Eliason, Curtis Klaassen, Lois Rowell, Paul Wilken, Karen Schardt, Ann Wiechman and John Stumme topped the sophomore class.

Freshmen meeting the goal are John Adams, David Andrae, Judith Atz, Robert Beyerlein, Dennis Heaney, Joanne Kinsinger, Judith Lanaghan, Katherine Lewellan, David Olson, Nancy Rahn, Barbara Reinich, Pamela Sandrock.

Kathryn Schroder, Judith Slade, Keith Tomlinson, Barbara Uchtorff, Darlene Voelker, Carolyn Wulff, Darrel Gerietts and Brian Kruger.

AS SPIRITUAL EMPHASIS SPEAKER,

Bryant Will Highlight Week

By Lois Piotter

Robert Bryant, principal speaker for this year's Spiritual Emphasis Week, comes as a representative of a unique community in Texas, the Christian Faith-and-Life Community.

This Community was established in 1952 as an ecumenical research and training center for the purpose of pioneering and developing new ways and means in the theological education of the laity.

Program Includes Students

Its several programs encompass residential theological education for University of Texas students and a number of special programs for people of post-college age.

This experiment has several objectives which are being accomplished quite successfully. For example, it aims to explore ways and means through which the church can effectively fulfill her mission.

Laymen Encouraged

At the same time it encourages and challenges the layman to fulfill his respective mission in life with understanding, courage and integrity.

Ol' Time Minstrel Show Tops Week

TWO BLACKFACED GENTS, Jim Tjaden and Richard Koehler, appear to be enjoying themselves while rehearsing for the minstrel show coming up next Thursday and Friday evenings.

Schroeder Will Perform At Symphony Tomorrow

William A. Schroeder, violin soloist and assistant professor of violin and music theory here, will be featured in the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra concert tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Schroeder started his violin studies in Chicago in 1934, training at the Chicago Musical College under Ray Huntington. In 1941 he was awarded the Oliver Ditson Scholarship in Composition.

He was a leading composition student of Max Wald, and while stationed in Algiers, he was able to study violin with the Czech concert violinist Hynek Pesek.

At present Schroeder is working toward a doctor's degree in composition at Northwestern University. In tomorrow's concert, the violinist will play the "E Major Concerto" by J. S. Bach. His violin was purchased from Carl Becker & Son, Chicago, and considered by artists as one of the finest violin makers in the United States. Schroeder's violin is only about two weeks old.

The orchestra will complete the concert by playing varied symphonies and two selections by contemporary composers. Tickets for the performance may be purchased at the door, according to Robert E. Lee, orchestra director.

"Ol' Time Minstrel Show" will be presented by the Wartburg Band next Thursday and Friday evenings at 8 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Included in the show will be singing, dancing, skits and jokes, with the traditional eight-man circle and an interlocutor, according to Robert E. Lee, Band director.

Making up the minstrel circle will be junior Dennis Wesenberg; sophomores Ron Burrichter, Jim Tjaden, Ed Timm, Ken Steege; senior Fred Stark; and freshmen Dick Koehler and Dale Fridley. Director Lee will serve as the interlocutor.

Vocalists To Perform

Highlighting the performance will be such numbers as a trombone quartet, an accordion solo, a chorus, soloists and vocal groups.

A men's barbershop quartet will feature Dennis Wesenberg, Ron Burrichter, Harold Heeren and Ken Steege. In the women's trio will be Linda Blobaum, Marilyn Schlake and Karen Wilken.

Soloists for the evening will include Burrichter, Wesenberg, Ron Koplitz and Director Lee. In the typical minstrel tradition, dancers will do the "soft shoe" and form a chorus line. Scattered throughout the evening various skits will also be presented.

Hits To Highlight Show

Favorite song hits will be "Without a Song," "Old Man River," "If I Got a Ticket, Can I Ride?," "Kentucky Babe" and "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee."

Everyone will be appearing in costumes with the popular "blackface."

Tickets will be sold in advance and may also be purchased at the door, according to sophomore Ken Steege, general chairman.

Kildahl To Speak On Russian Novel

Dr. P. A. Kildahl, English Department, will speak on the "Russian Novel" at an English lecture on Monday evening at 7:45 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Following the lecture coffee and cookies will be served.

Jobman Travels To Press Confab

Darrell Jobman, Trumpet editor, is presently attending an Overseas Press Club Conference in New York City.

The convention, scheduled for Feb. 9-12, is being held in conjunction with the Overseas Press Association.

Jobman was awarded a partial scholarship to the conference. These grants were given the Press Club by Reader's Digest to award to college journalists.

Beyerlein Presented Frosh Physics Award

Robert Beyerlein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beyerlein of Phillipsburg, Kan., was given the Freshman Physics Achievement Award for 1961-62 last Monday.

The award, a copy of the new 43rd edition of "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," was presented to Beyerlein by Professor William Azbell, head of the Physics Department.

Should Campus Chest Aid Hospital?

Wartburg will vote soon for various charities to support in this year's Campus Chest project.

Waverly is planning to build a new hospital.

Totally unrelated? Not at all. The latter could well affect the outcome of the first if the Campus Chest Committee decides to include it on the ballot which will be put to students within the next few weeks.

St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital has been in operation since 1904. The building is not adequate for modern medicine any more and has not been approved by the State Department of Health.

Several years ago a recommendation was made to build a new hospital. With the need apparent, a bond issue was submitted to the voters in the county for a county-wide hospital.

Waverly citizens responded to the need, and a hospital committee was set up. The Sisters of Mercy were persuaded to continue administration of the hospital, and the Catholic Church agreed to match funds that would be collected in a local drive.

With the federal government also matching the amount of the local drive, this means that for every dollar collected in the Waverly area, there will be two more dollars from other sources.

The new building will be a 40- to 50-bed, two-story general hospital built right behind the present hospital, which will be torn down later. It will be administered by the Sisters of Mercy assisted by local citizens on the Hospital Advisory Board.

Early this week the pledges and contributions totaled $317,000, which is $17,000 over the goal. But $300,000 was set as a minimum from each of the three sources. The more that is collected, the better the hospital and equipment. And, as campaign manager Don Bates pointed out, some of the pledges will probably not be met. Just because a minimum goal has been reached is no reason to say that more funds aren't necessary.

College Pres. C. H. Becker, who serves as allied towns chairman in charge of area solicitations, said, "While it is true that the minimum goal has been reached for the hospital drive, it should be pointed out that this does represent only the minimum goal. All additional support which we receive will help increase the size and adequacy of the health facilities that will be provided."

President Becker said that he favors having the student body contribute some of the Campus Chest funds to the hospital drive.

"Certainly a strong health program in the Waverly community which includes the college community is essential to the welfare of everyone connected with Wartburg College, and . . . we would be grateful for all the support that could be contributed toward the hospital by the Wartburg community . . .

"All of us are tremendously grateful for the co-operation and assistance we have already received for this project from members of the faculty and staff. It would certainly be an inspiration to have the student body of Wartburg College join the ranks of those who are determined to provide the best hospital possible for our community," he concluded.

"There has been good support in Waverly," reported Bates, pointing out the aid of some college faculty members. "It would be a wonderful thing for the student body, since they do use the hospital."

Campus Chest, for those of you who are unfamiliar with it, is a united fund drive on campus each year which replaces many separate charity drives. Last year $640 was collected and was split up among Student Memorial Fund, Waverly Children's Home, Mental Health, World University Service, International Christian University of Japan and the Cancer Fund.

Not that any of these aren't good charities, but it seems that a sizeable contribution to the hospital drive would be a better idea at this time than contributions to several of the mentioned charities.

The hospital would be a tangible sign that Wartburg's gift actually did do some good after all. If Waverly is to consider Wartburg as part of its citizenry, it is time Wartburg students play the part of good citizens. Waverly has helped Wartburg. Let Wartburg help Waverly in this way.

There will probably be objections that the hospital would be Catholic-controlled and Wartburg is Lutheran. "Why should Lutherans support Catholics?" is likely to be the question. If the hospital were to fail on these grounds, it would be a great shame. Remember that many Waverly people are Lutherans and still are contributing to the hospital for their own welfare. Adequate health facilities are more important now than religious differences.

Consider Waverly's new hospital when you consider Campus Chest. When the new hospital is complete, it will be a feather in Wartburg's cap to have a plaque on the newly plastered wall saying:

Contributions "Wartburg College Student Body Campus Chest — 1962"

VOICE OF THE CAMPUS

Professor Views Federal Aid

To the Editor of the Trumpet:

It was refreshing to have the Trumpet discuss a really important issue on last week's editorial page.

The principles involved in federal aid to education should not be too difficult to grasp. The obvious way for the federal government to come to the aid of education is, first, to allocate federal funds to existing public schools and colleges and, second, if this is not adequate, to assist the states and municipalities in building new schools, especially new public junior colleges, so as to provide for the anticipated increase in college enrollment.

Where, then, does the trouble arise? It arises from the fact that private sectarian schools want a share for themselves of public tax money regardless of the Constitution. Why does this create an issue for debate? It creates an issue because private sectarian schools operate on a basis of RELIGIOUS DISCRIMINATION, and it is contrary to our federal Constitution to use public tax money to further the cause of religious discrimination. The following facts are fundamental in the controversy:

1. A Roman Catholic school is operated by the Roman Catholic church; its administration is openly based on the principle of discrimination in favor of Roman Catholicism. Similarly, a Lutheran school is administered on the same basis of discrimination in favor of the church which maintains it.

2. Our federal Constitution forbids Congress to pass any law which, on the one hand, would "establish a religion" or, on the other hand, would "prohibit the free exercise thereof." Clearly, this implies that the legislation of Congress must aim at perfect impartiality, that is, must discriminate neither for nor against any particular religion. Incidentally, this principle is something quite different from the principle of the separation of church and state, with which the popular mind is forever confusing it, as when people talk of "federal control of education."

3. Until now, the tax laws of Congress have, in fact, pretty well adhered to our constitutional principle of non-discrimination. Institutions and offices supported by public tax funds may not discriminate, in their employment policies or practices, either for or against individuals holding particular religious beliefs. This is the mark of a tax-supported institution.

From these basic facts it is not difficult to draw the inevitable conclusion. Public tax funds may not be used to support private sectarian education. If tax money is used to this end, the American citizen has a right to demand that sectarian schools renounce their policy of discriminating in favor of the church supporting them and that they open all teaching and administrative positions to personnel of all religious faiths without any discrimination on basis of religious affiliation. This is the mark of a tax-supported institution. This principle — and not the spurious principle of the separation of church and state — lies at the heart of our Constitution and of any system of law worthy of the name. Lesser associations like the church may thrive on discrimination, but the state demonstrates its superior justice by resolutely renouncing discrimination in all its forms.

Far from fearing federal control, the intelligent American citizen will fear rather that THERE MAY NOT BE ENOUGH FEDERAL CONTROL to guarantee non-discrimination by individual sectarian colleges. This is the real issue at stake. Will the institutions that receive federal aid for education continue to discriminate on basis of religion?

Our federal Constitution guarantees that Congress shall pass no law, for example, which would forbid a church to operate schools of its own; but the use of public tax funds to assist a church in building or operating a school on basis of religious discrimination is clearly a violation of the spirit as well as the letter of the law.

The bitter irony of the situation is that when our Constitution is circumvented, it should be done in the name of religion and higher education.

SB Project Suggestion Asks For Aid To S.O.S.

By Manny Brandt

Well, it would appear as if those who keep saying that college is becoming harder each year are correct. At least I've noticed a certain amount of difficulty in reaching classes recently. On warm days we have huge moats to cross, and on cold days gargantuan sheets of ice. Truly, these are types of challenges needed by our college youth.

Brandt

I am sure that most of you, as I, grow tired of hearing snide remarks about the cafeteria. Therefore, a word of praise! I am constantly astounded with the many new and different types of entertainment offered the student body by the cafeteria workers.

These vary from craftily sneaking around the corner and dashing a glass of water on a fellow worker's back to nonchalantly firing bits of used food and water-soaked napkins at one another. A particularly humorous note is added when an innocent food consumer is accidentally included. Just another wonderful feature of eating at the cafe.

We had a student body meeting last Thursday. Most of the officers of student government seemed quite pleased with the vast attendance. Almost half of the students were there. Perhaps this was due to the fact that most of us thought it was a regular convo.

At the student body meeting it was decided to once again have a student body project. Here is the opportunity that the S.O.S. (Save Our Squirrels) Committee has been waiting for. If everyone on the committee tells five other persons about the pitiful plight of our squirrels here at Wartburg, the student body project is ours. "A squirrel friend at school is a friend for life."

In conjunction with the past convo series on astronomy, I would like to mention that the Amateur Astronomers of Wartburg will begin to hold their nightly meetings as soon as the weather warms up. Most of the meetings will be held in the park by the river. A special feature of the club is small, chummy discussion groups. Those who desire such are asked to bring their own refreshments.

Knights To Meet Simpson Tonight

By Paul Mardorf

Redmen of Simpson will appear in Knights Gymnasium to face a revenge-seeking Knight team.

This game will be the second meeting of the season between the two teams. Simpson won the first game 78-67 at Indianola.

This was the game in which Knight coach Fred Jaspers inaugurated his "unit plan system," which he has used rather effectively since.

No Special Star This Time

Redmen will be coming to Waverly without any outstanding star as they have in years past. This year's squad is a well-balanced team and not a one-man team. Barry Yount and Bob Hensley have been leaders in the Redmen lineup, however.

Since the first meeting of the two teams, the Redmen have played .500 hall while the Knights played 2-4. The Knights have lost several games by close margins.

Next Tuesday Wartburg moves out of the conference for a hall game with State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls.

Panthers Have Strong Team

The Panthers have a strong, talented team this year, even though they have lost three games in the North Central Conference. Otherwise, they are unbeaten in 10 games.

This year's Panther squad is led by all-conference Pete Spoden, with Boh Waller and Dick Christy also contributing great efforts.

This will be the first meeting of the two schools this year. Last year the Knights lost both encounters with the Panthers.

The Cedar Falls college won this year's Tall Corn Holiday Tournament, whereas the Knights finished fourth.

Knights Fall To UIU

Last Monday night, the Knights fell to a fired up Upper Iowa team, 86-80. UIU's spark was supplied by two newly acquired players at the beginning of the second semester. One is 6'9" Lonnie Lynn, and the other is 6'8" Floyd McMillan.

Farm Bureau Team To Be Squires' Foe

Wartburg Squires will play the Tama Farm Bureau in the preliminary basketball game tonight.

At Upper Iowa last Monday night the young Knights were downed 76-72. The Squires led at halftime but then lost the lead.

Despite the loss Squire Jerome Hemenway was high scorer with 29 points, his high for the season.

The game was a rather rough game throughout. Knight forward Jim Borcharding was sent sprawling to the floor after receiving a face blow when going up for a rebound. He had to be removed from the game.

Game Rough Without Fouls

On several occasions players were thrown to the floor with no fouls called.

The Peacock's new-found star Lonnie Lynn led the team. Besides dumping in 26 points, Lynn captured many rebounds and dazzled the crowd with his excellent floor play.

Freshman Dave Lange was high man for the Knights for the first time this season. On five field goals and four free throws he finished the game with 14 points. Another freshman, Boh Nielsen and senior Boh Mueller tallied with 13 points each.

LITTLE (5'8") BOB Nielsen tries to sneak in a lay-in despite a mighty outstretched paw as Al Buenning waits for a chance to rebound.

Jomen Score 17-14 Wins, Will Face Simpson Today

With two 17-14 victories under their belts after a weekend in Minnesota, the Wartburg wrestlers are home today to challenge Simpson at 2 p.m. in Knights Gym.

IM Teams See Changes In BB Race

In another great week of intramural basketball, the title race in both leagues underwent some big changes.

North Hall B took over first place in the National League while three teams, Grossmann Basement, Grossmann III and Alpha-Ketha, are deadlocked for the American League lead.

In the National League action of last Saturday, Gary Leeper led the North Hall B squad to a 79-57 win over Grossmann II. Leeper scored 28 points. Vollmer had the high scorer of its game, Orv McElfresh with 22, as Vollmer topped Off-campus D, 73-56.

Basement Loses First

Clinton Basement took its first loss of the season at the hands of Clinton I in a really close contest, 69-67. Gerald Baldner of Clinton I led the scoring with 28 points. Terry Witwer scored 21 points, to help Off-campus A take a 66-36 decision over Grossmann I.

Four more games were played in the National League on Thursday evening. It was then that North Hall B took sole possession of first place by edging Vollmer 42-41.

Gary Leeper was again high scorer as he dropped in 18 points for North Hall. Off-campus D defeated a stubborn Clinton III team, 51-46, with the help of Gary Schwandt's 16.

Clinton In Second Place

Clinton I moved into second place in the National League by squeezing by Off-campus A 43-41. John Hanson scored 17 for the winners. In the final game of the week Grossmann II evened its record at 2-2 by defeating Grossmann I, 67-50. Grossmann II had the high scorer of the game, Roger Coach Norm Johansen will be placing his team on the mat for the sixth time this year and will be hoping for win number five. He is making three changes in the line-up.

Hassman Returns At 177

Larry Lenning, a first semester freshman, will wrestle at 123. Al Hassman, a junior letterman who was out of school last semester, will move into the 177-pound weight class. Jeff Milson will move from 177 to 167.

Defeating St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., last Friday, the Knights traveled to St. Cloud to take on a tough St. Cloud State College team.

Mueller, Tower Win

Bill Smith (130) picked up five team points by forfeit and Jim Mueller (137) and Tim Tower (157) got three points each by decision, but Wartburg was trailing, 14-11, with two matches left.

Freshman Len Ackermann, wrestling at 191, beat Jim Hanson, 3-2, picking up the winning margin with riding time. Sophomore Duane Huth broke the meet tie, and gave Wartburg the win by defeating St. Cloud's heavyweight, 4-0.

Coach Johansen called both teams "better than Dubuque."

Hrubetz, with 25 points.

A real battle has developed for the top spot in the American League because of Tuesday evening's games. Grossmann Basement and Alpha-Ketha moved into a tie for the top spot with Grossmann III, which was idle this week.

Robert Brown scored 19 for Off-campus C, but the balanced attack of Grossmann Basement gave the Grossmann team the 63-56 decision. Charles Jepsen dumped in 19, to lead Alpha-Ketha to their 65-60 overtime victory over Clinton II.

Basketball coach Fred Jaspers scored 19 and led Faculty to its first win of the year, a 90-60 rout with North Hall A. In the final American League contest, Cotta edged Off-campus B 65-64, although Off-campus B had two 20-point scorers, Boh Harken and Barry Greene.

'Antigone' Cast Is Praised

By Louise Loots

To the solemn sound of a slow beating drum, the curtain opened this past week on the second major production of the Wartburg Theatre — "Antigone."

On a stage bathed in violet light and accented only by several black symbols, two main figures cast momentary shadows on the curtain.

Within the course of the play each of them was destroyed, both by the same hand. This should not have come as a surprise to the audience, for during the course of the play the Chorus stated, "in tragedy there is no doubt. Everyone's destiny is known . . . there is no hope."

Nimtz Plays Antigone

For if there is a failure to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's, only tragedy can result.

However, the question might be raised, "Who is to have priority, Caesar or God?" For Antigone, splendidly portrayed by sophomore Judy Nimtz, there could be but one answer — the gods.

She insisted on defying Creon's law that her brother not be buried, for "those who are not buried wander eternally and find no rest. Everyone knows that."

Ehlers Performs Well

Creon, on the other hand, who came alive for the audience through another remarkable performance of senior Don Ehlers, could not doubt his own law as the only authority on all matters. He was forced to do what he did because he was King of Thebes. He was too much of a coward to say "no." And therein the conflict arose between Antigone and Creon. The King of Thebes had broken the back of the rebellion, but he could not crush Antigone's character which rose above him in many ways. And for this she had to die.

However, although she died, her heroic courage in defiance of an earthly law ennobled her, and Creon sank to near defeat as his son and wife were lost and he was left alone.

Also giving a creditable performance was freshman Don Hughes as Haemon, Creon's son.

TWO LEADING CHARACTERS, Antigone (Judy Nimtz) and Creon (Don Ehlers) are shown in the three-night performance of "Antigone."

Chorus Adds To Tragedy

J. Daniel Diekhoff, junior, who spoke the lines of the Chorus, also proved capable in his role, adding the extra, but essential, part provided for in Greek tragedies.

Sharyn Purcell, sophomore, as Ismene; Kathryn Koob, senior, as the Nurse; and sophomore Joyce Bethke as Eurydice; played well the three additional female roles in the play.

Al Sandau, sophomore, as the first guard, gave relief to the heavy tone of the tragedy, perhaps at times varying too much from the prevailing mood. However, this may have been the author's intention.

Critic Rates All High

The remainder of the cast was second guard, freshman Richard Weigel; third guard, freshman Randolph Marsh; Messenger, Ken Weiss; and last and least (only in size) the page, Mark Larson, guest of Wartburg Players.

These fine performances, in addition to the skilled direction of John Gill, drama director, resulted in another excellent production by the Wartburg Theatre.

Reservation Wed.

Reserved seat tickets for the fifth Artist Series of the season, the Vienna Choir Boys, will be available this coming Wednesday and Thursday.

Students and faculty members may obtain reservations by presenting activity tickets in the Chapel-auditorium foyer between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Dean To Discuss Graduate Schools

A presentation of graduate schools, their requirements, advantages and general nature by Dean of Faculty John O. Chellebold will be sponsored by the Academic Life Committee Thursday night at 7:30 in the Audio-visual room at the Library.

Any student considering graduate school at any time is urged to attend, according to senior Mil Goetz, head of the committee. A number of experienced faculty members will also be in attendance to answer any question.

Meetings Highlight Week As Semester Gets Going

By Louise Loots

Kilimanjaro — I can not imagine a mountain that could have a more enchanting name. The name of the mountain must have lured many men to the peak.

Tomorrow afternoon Chi Rho will have as its speaker Dr. R. Reusch of Gustavus Adolphus, a man who not only made 67 excursions up this mountain, but also served 37 years as a Swedish missionary. Everyone is invited to meet and hear Dr. Reusch at the meeting beginning at 1:30 in the band room of the Fine Arts Building.

Do you like to listen to snow as it settles, almost silently, among the campus trees? Tomorrow evening the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra will present its winter concert at 7:30 in the Chapel-auditorium.

"The Importance of Faculty Meetings" will be the topic of Don Vetter, guest speaker at the Student Education Association meeting on Monday evening. Vetter, who comes from the Board of Parish Education for the American Lutheran Church, will begin his talk at 7:45 in the cafeteria. All members are urged to be present for this meeting, so they say.

Also, all members of Phobes are reminded of their next meeting, which will be tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the Wartburg Hall lounge. Program for the afternoon will be a very practical and beneficial one, centering around learning how to use mimeographing and stenciling equipment.

There is yet another meeting this week. Scheduled for Thursday evening at 7 in the Fine Arts Building is the next meeting of the Art Club. Everyone who is of an artistic nature is invited to be present for this meeting of the club.

Last of all, don't forget about the dance after the game tonight. Sponsored by the Business Student Association, it will be held from 9-11 in the Little Theatre. Yes, it'll cost you just a little.
